Great Britain's roads are among the safest in the world.

At the Driver and Vehicle Standards Agency (DVSA), we play a vital role helping millions of people stay safe on our roads – our vision is safer drivers, safer vehicles, and safer journeys for all.

What we do

We help millions of people every year. We make sure learners are safe to drive, by approving driving instructors and conducting driving and theory tests. We help people keep their vehicle safe to drive by approving MOT testers and inspecting vehicles. And our teams help protect the public from unsafe vehicles and drivers through roadside enforcement activities.

31,958 defective vehicles
discovered each year

38.5 million MOT
certificates issued each year

Why join DVSA?

Our vision is for safer drivers, safer vehicles, and safer journeys for all. We help keep vehicles safe to drive by providing vehicle testing.

A day in the life of a Vehicle Standards Assessor

Tony is a Vehicle Standards Assessor in the Operations South Team.

My role is varied; day to day I can be assessing anything from a 3.5 tonne to a maximum weight Heavy Goods Vehicle, to trailers and Public Service Vehicles. Throughout the day I am conducting visual checks of vehicles, climbing up into lorry cabs and going down into the service pit to assess the underneath of vehicles, checking their safety and condition. I am ensuring these vehicles are safe and adhere to Government guidelines.

Alongside this I conduct technical tests, seeing if vehicles are meeting the required criteria and are compliant. I then issue certificates to reflect this. These tests ensure high standards are maintained and vehicles are safe to be on Britain's roads. My work contributes to the safety of all road users and brings me great satisfaction.

Since joining The DVSA I have felt a sense of belonging, support and feel acknowledged for my work and efforts. I collaborate with many colleagues across the Agency and The DVSA ensures all their staff are part of an inclusive environment.

I work with a diverse team with varied experience and cultures, that embraces differences. This allows everyone to bring their own perspective and talent to their role and team.

The DVSA really feels like a family, and I would recommend working for this fantastic Agency.
